

COPYRIGHT AND TRADEMARK DISPUTE POLICY - DOMANENNAME

Procedures for Intellectual Property Infringement Claims

Version: 1.0 Effective Date: 18th May 2026 Company: CRISALEO LIMITED

1. OUR POSITION ON INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY

Domanenname respects the intellectual property \((IP\)) rights of others and expects its users to do the same. This policy outlines how we handle claims of copyright and trademark infringement involving domains registered through our service.

2. TRADEMARK DISPUTES

2.1 Domain Name vs. Trademark

A domain name is not a trademark, and registering a domain does not grant trademark rights. Disputes between a trademark owner and a domain registrant are typically handled through ICANN-mandated policies.

2.2 UDRP and URS

We follow the Uniform Domain Name Dispute Resolution Policy \((UDRP\)) and the Uniform Rapid Suspension System \((URS\)) for trademark-related domain disputes.

- See our [Dispute Resolution Policy]\((./09_DISPUTE_RESOLUTION.md\)) for more details.

2.3 How to Submit a Trademark Claim

If you believe a domain infringes your trademark, you should first attempt to contact the registrant directly. If that fails, you may initiate a UDRP or URS proceeding through an approved provider.

3. COPYRIGHT DISPUTES \((DMCA\))

Domanenname is a domain registrar, not a hosting provider. We do not host website content \((HTML, images, etc.\\)).

3.1 Where to File a DMCA Notice

If you believe a website is hosting copyright-infringing content, you must file a DMCA notice with the web hosting provider, not the registrar.

How to find the host: Use a tool like whois or dig to find the nameservers or IP address, then look up the owner of that IP.

3.2 Our Role in Copyright Claims

We will only take action on copyright claims \ (such as suspending a) Tj ET BT /1 us to do so.
